HELENA, Oct. 7, 1887.

I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me. I became alarmed, and at the suggestion of a friend purchased a bottle of Acker's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfully recommend it.

I had a racking cough and inflamed PINEVILLE, Ky., Special: Hanging in a bara in Old Pineville, three miles from here, is the most marvelous freak of nature ever heard of or seen. Its existence however, is vouched for by Messrs. James P. Whallen and Joseph Leahy, of Louis, Pineville. It is well known that when cucumbers are first cut from the vine there is a piece of the stem, which exudes or bleeds A prominent citizen of Old Pineville some time ago, named Jared Gibson, cut his hand, and this juice got into this cut and his hand, and this juice got into this cut and his hand, and this juice got into this cut and his hand. ville, who have just returned from Old his whole body. Strange to say, there was no pain attending these eruptions of erysipelas, and he continued to gather and pack his cucumbers and prepare them for picking. To the great surprise of everybody, these little pimples assumed the appearance and form of small cucumbers, and continued to grow. Although Gibson kept well and hearty, he was compelled to stop work and take to his bed. The doctors and quacks from around here visited him. One prescribed one thing and one another. One wished to bleed him; one wanted to cut the cucumbers off; another said not to let him have any water and they would dry Dr. Bo-san-ko. In his new discovery for consumption, succeeded in producing a medicine which is acknowledged by all to be simply marvelcut the cucumbers off: another said not to let him have any water and they would dry up; another said stick a hole in each cucumber and they would die and a new skin form; another wished to wrap him up in a mammoth poultice of barn-yard manure and draw them all to one head; another said they ought to be scattered. All the doctors had a different remedy, but all disagreed manure and draw them all to one head; another said they ought to be scattered. All the doctors had a different remedy, but all disagreed so there was some hope that the patient would get well. But the small cucumbers grew into big ones, and his whole body was covered with them from head to foot scess of Lungs, and friends and proposed me an incurable consumptive Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. When they got ripe they began to shrivel up and dry and so did the man. His sap was all gone and he died. The doctors procured the consent of his widow to permit an autopsy to be made for the benefit of science, and they cut him open, and to their amazement found no blood, no mus cles, no sinews, no arteries, but found only one solid mass of cucumber seeds! It was so remarkable that it would be useless to have the remains interred and foolish to have them cremated, and the widow concluded to keep them in the house. She had the corpse hung up by the hair in the barn, where it now swings, an inanimate evidence of what nature can do when she with a lame shoulder. I sold him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and guaranteed that it would cure him. He came in again door began to swing his arms over his head like an Indian club swinger. I thought the blamed fool had a fit, but he finally stopped long enough to say: "Medicine velly fine, velly fine; alle same make me feel plenty good."
